

Murray Basin Community Advisory Group

In response to suggestions from several community members, King County Wastewater Treatment Division has formed a Murray Basin Community Advisory Group that represents the diverse interests and needs of the community as they relate to the Murray Basin Combined Sewer Overflow Project. The mission of the group is to:

- Provide a forum for dialog and information sharing;
- Consult with representatives of the community on the selection of a community-acceptable alternative or suite of alternatives to reduce Combined Sewer Overflow episodes;
- Provide advice, as community representatives, on potential solutions and ways to address community concerns and to advise King County on CSO solutions in the Murray basin;
- Help King County make a stronger connection with the community; and
- Help King County provide information to the community so community members can provide meaningful input, help the County solve the serious problems of combined sewer overflows, and help the County reach a reasonable and technically feasible solution.

Members were selected because they asked the county to participate in a group or were recommended by another community member. All members are West Seattle community members, except as identified:
