The Challenge: King County has responsibilities for implementation of salmon recovery, reduction of flood risks and maintaining the viability of farming. Some of the actions that are needed to meet these diverse objectives overlap on the ground. So, at the scale of individual farms or parcels and valley-wide, it is often challenging to find the right balance when undertaking actions to support any one of these priorities.

Advisory Committee Purpose: The Snoqualmie Fish, Farm, & Flood Advisory Committee is responsible for advising King County on what is most important for each of these sectors to thrive, how we should seek balance among these interests and propose short and long term recommendations that collectively improve conditions for fish, farm and flood risk reduction objectives.

Meeting Purpose: Continue to pursue committee discussion and solution generation around the core issues associated with large habitat restoration and flood Capital Improvement Projects.
